CULTURE OF CAMELLIAS, AZALEAS AND GARDENIAS

Choose a well-drained location in semi-shade. Do not set the plant any deeper than it was originally when growing in the nursery. Plant firmly, water well, and scatter a thin layer of dead leaves around the base of the plant. A mulch of leaves rather than cultivation around the roots is advisable at all times.

During the growing season, sprinkle a small amount of commercial fertilizer on top of the ground around the plants once a month and water it in. In early spring and fall spray the plants twice at two-week intervals with Black Leaf 40 and Volck Emulsion Oil.

National Nurseries is nationally advertised and is strictly responsible and has no liabilities. Buy your plants from this established firm and be safe.

You may set them in pots, boxes or cans if you wish and grow them as well indoors as outdoors.

We take every precaution to fill your order correctly and our plants are guaranteed true to name. If any error is made in filling your order, we will gladly adjust the matter to your entire satisfaction, but at no time will we be responsible for more than the purchase price of the stock ordered.

Shipping: Shipping season is September 1st to May 1st, except rooted cuttings and St. Augustine Grass, which we ship anytime.

If you prefer, you may name your choice of colors in Camellias and Azaleas and we will select the varieties for you.

Order early: Plants are being booked up fast, so please send your order as promptly as possible.

We sell copyrighted instructions, "How to Root Cuttings in Sand or Vermiculite," for $1.00. Cultural instructions included.

Camellias and azaleas are evergreen plants and will survive a solid coat of ice, but open blossoms need some protection in severe freezing. You may order early any late bloomers and miss freezing of buds in extremely cold climate.

Most camellias start blooming at 2 to 4 years old.
